About the conference

The 4th International Conference on Advances in Hematology and Oncology (ICAHO 2016) is an educational meeting intended to advance the practice of hematology and oncology and to communicate new scientific knowledge in the field of cancer. This two-day meeting features educational sessions with world-renowned faculties from nation's leading institutions, and abstract sessions to present new and exciting research findings in the field of cancer.

ICAHO 2016 is the fourth annual cancer conference organized by the Binaytara Foundation (BTF) in the United States.

About Binaytara Foundation

Binaytara Foundation (BTF) is a 501(c)3 non profit established in 2007 with the goal of promoting health and education in resource poor communities through:

- the development of healthcare manpower in underserved areas
- the improvement of access to cancer care by establishing direct-care facilities and services
- the promotion of the practice of evidence-based medicine by providing research grants to young physicians and healthcare providers in training

- the improvement of knowledge and competence of healthcare professionals by offering them continuing educational materials through live and virtual meetings, webinars, and other educational forums

About the attendees

Last year's conference was attended by over 125 delegates from different parts of the country including faculties representing leading institutions in the field such as Mayo Clinic, MD Anderson Cancer Center, Stanford University Medical School, University of Washington, and the Seattle Cancer Care Alliance among others.

Target audiences include oncologists, hematologists, radiation oncologists, surgical oncologists, primary care providers, oncology pharmacists, oncology nurses, and others involved in the care of cancer patients. In addition, national and international oncology researchers, scientists, scholars, and fellows will present their oncology research findings during the abstract sessions.

About the venue - Coeur d'Alene, Idaho

Coeur d'Alene is a beautiful resort town in northern Idaho that is often called a heaven for outdoor enthusiasts. From golfing in the floating golf course in the middle of Lake Coeur d'Alene to shopping, and hiking, the natural beauty of this "Lake City" draws thousands of visitors each year.

This is what the city's visitor's site says about Coeur d'Alene

"There's something magical about Lake Coeur d'Alene that's hard to define, but it begins with the spectacular North Idaho sunsets and moonrises, the plunge of an osprey after a fish, the glowing lights of downtown Coeur d'Alene reflecting across its waters at night."
